Introduction

The close of our high school career marks the end of an exciting period in life, yet it is the beginning of another. No matter which doors are opened in the future by graduates of Plainfield High School, the skills and understanding gained here will provide the keys. Thinking and questioning, along with concentration and diligent effort, unlock a rich and fruitful life.

FACULTY

Principal

Mr. Wallace F. Gleason

PRINCIPAL'S ADDRESS

Any door will open with the right key. At the present time your key to success is your educational preparation. While you have been at this school, you have had the opportunity to share in a variety of experiences. Each experience was one tool used in the shaping of your key. Reflect for a moment upon your entrance into the new life in high school. You remember how frightened you were when you joined the large class gathered in the auditorium. The door was opened for you. As you moved forward through the years, you gained in the knowledge of how to pass through the portals of life. Now the time has come for you to make a choice. Has your key been shaped for the release of the lock to the door of your choice? We hope that you have found the right key to the treasure chest of life and that your future will be bright. May your memories be pleasant ones as you travel on.

The imposing future lies ahead. It will not be so difficult to accept because of the warm friendships made, the exciting experiences lived through, and the knowledge gained over three years at Plainfield High School. We have come this far together; from here our paths diverge. In the future we will be seeking different goals.

Foreign Exchange Student

Plainfield High School was fortunate to have, as this year's foreign exchange student, Jurg Krattinger, from Zurich, Switzerland. Jurg came to Plainfield to live with Jim Cross and his family for the school year of 1965-66 and began school in September.

Jurg has many enjoyments which include music, antiques, and photography. These interests are clearly displayed through his participation in the band and Entrée. He is also a member of AFS, the track team, and the newly formed soccer team.

When Jurg returns to Switzerland, he will attend school for a year in preparation for college. After college, he plans to become a language professor.

Senior Class Council

The Senior Class Council is to be congratulated for making the final year of the Class of 1966 a happy and a rewarding one. The Council, which acts as the representative of the entire class, is responsible for the success of the activities in which the class participates. Notable among these activities are producing the Senior Play, obtaining Senior privileges, selecting the class gift, and preparing for the Prom. For their part in these functions, we are especially grateful to the Class Officers, Bob Ponzio, Warren King, Sharon Owens, and Sharon Bomar.

Class History:

Full of anxiety and trepidation, as every other class before us had been, we timidly entered Plainfield High School on a sunny day in September. We spent those first few days wandering, dazedly looking around odd corners for those rooms with the peculiar numbers . . .

especially such hard-to-find places as the cafeteria.

Once we had adjusted to the complex stairs and hallways system, to the homework heaped upon us by an enthusiastic faculty, and to the mad dash into homeroom seconds before the late bell, we began to feel enough at home to criticize . . .

especially those upperclassmen who persisted in giving us wrong directions.

We found that we cheered with as much volume as anyone else at the football games; following this discovery, we slowly grew from a mass of 652 individuals into a cohesive unit, the Class of 1966. Our first Class Council elected officers: Russell Passarella, President; Marian Lee, Vice-President; Sharon Owens, Secretary; and Kay Meaney, Treasurer. We began to feel quite sure of ourselves when class dues were collected and plans were made for our Sophomore Dance. The dance added further to our treasury, thanks to the combined efforts of our classmates . . .

especially the noble number who spent the evening drinking cokes and eating cake.

Since we had fought our way to becoming an accepted part of the high school community, we settled down to the routine problems of getting an education. Sadness at the departure of the Seniors, whom we had so recently so vehemently disliked, marked the last months of the year. June even separated us from many of our newly-found friends.

By mid-August of 1964, we were all eager to return. This time it was our turn to derive malicious pleasure from hazing the Sophomores and sending them scurrying in the wrong direction . . .

especially pointing timid souls up down staircases into the arms of teachers waiting for such offenders.

Our Sophomore class officers were re-elected, with the exception of the office of Vice-President, which was filled by Bob Ponzio, to preside over our Junior Class Council. When our rings arrived, we realized that there was something quite special about being Juniors; after all, we were only a year behind the Seniors; the next year would be ours. Yet our Junior year served mainly as a period of transition from the frivolity of Sophomores to the seriousness of Seniors — or was it the other way around? Certain things we do remember: the trip of the small mixed chorus to Buffalo, the election of our class Vice-President as President of the New Jersey State Association of High School Student Councils, the L.R.F.T.S.B.P.T.?, the tedious hours spent writing out the index cards which led to Mr. Gleason's victory in the Principal of the Year Contest and the subsequent visit of Cousin Brucie, and other less pleasant things . . .

And the brilliant innovation of having two entirely different types of bands at our Junior Dance, which, unfortunately, depleted our treasury somewhat. Unhappy at the necessity of saying more good-byes to our friends, we were, nonetheless, made jubilant when graduation night made us, the class of 1966, the Senior Class.

Now we couldn't wait for September. Although some merely seemed anxious to get the year over with, everything seemed familiarly precious: the highly waxed floors which were too soon dulled with scuff marks, the clocks which didn't work, the clocks which weren't there, the lockers which refused to open or shut but jammed somewhere in between, and the people, teachers and friends alike . . .

especially those whom we would henceforth only see at reunions.

It was soon evident who was a Senior. The Sophomores and Juniors walked, while the Seniors drove everywhere. The Sophomores and Juniors were very conscious of making sure they went to the "in" places; the Seniors, with nobody to impress, went wherever they pleased. In the midst of their pleasure, the Senior girls met with a rude shock when they discovered that the Senior boys were all dating underclassmen girls . . .

especially when they began to wonder whom they were going to the Prom with.

The days, weeks, and months flew by. Before we all realized it, most of the year had passed. The night of the Prom, June 3rd, came and went. It was time for watching the Senior Review and the Awards Assembly, spending the day walking the halls in our caps and gowns, and finally, Commencement. The time has come for us to leave high school behind us. Now, as we stand on the threshold, we must look to the future.

Senior Play

You clumsy fool!

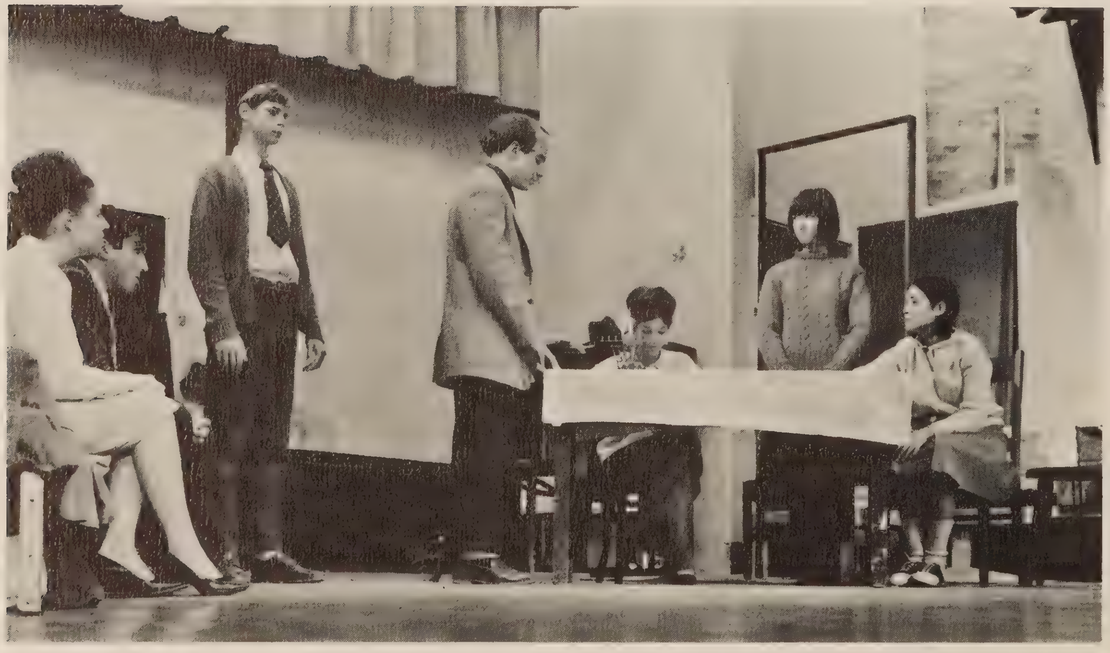
November 5, 1965

Dear Diary,

I have just come from seeing "The Diary of Anne Frank", which was given by Plainfield High School's Class of '66. It was simply wonderful! I had the privilege of sitting next to the director, Mr. Gimbel, and I could tell how proud he was of everyone. During the intermission he told me how tremendous participation was in all phases of the play: scenery, costumes, props, lighting, programs, and acting. The second act was really suspenseful. I actually felt as if I were right up there with the Franks, Van Daans, and Mr. Dussel, hiding from the Nazis in that old storeroom in Amsterdam. It had the saddest ending; all the women around me had tears in their eyes. The general opinion was, however, that it was the best Senior Play the PHS has ever had.

Fondly,

We thank the Lord . . .



"You brought more potatoes? Thanks a lot."

"So you have changed your mind about me!"

"Could you make me up to look like Elizabeth Taylor?"

The Underclassmen have just begun to discover the doors to their futures. Each year at Plainfield High School adds to the maturity and knowledge so necessary for their successes in life.

Juniors Class of 1967

565 students from the Hubbard and Maxon Jr. Highs came to PHS for the first time on September 9, 1964, as the Class of 1967. Ever since then, it has been an intricate working part of the school, each of its members working together and as individuals to improve themselves and their school.

In May of 1965 the Class of 1967 elected officers for the next year. Fred Schwartz was elected President; Barbara Bernstein, Vice-President; Janet Wachtel, Secretary; and Steve Schargel, Treasurer. Under their leadership, the Class Council sponsored many activities. The biggest of these was the Junior Class Dance, authorized to solicit funds for the Senior Prom. A new practice of a suggestion box in Mr. McCurdy's office was initiated and allowed class members to express ideas which they thought beneficial.

Next year the Class of 1967 will be the standard bearers of PHS. All that each member of the class has gained from his high school career will be evident in his last year.

Sophomores Class of 1968

As the Class of 1968 entered PHS in the fall, all of their hopes and dreams of high school came to life. For some, the new school was a source of never-ending confusion; for others, the adjustment was easily made.

Belonging to the student body of PHS meant "gaining independence." The Sophomores were now free of the restrictions of junior high and were accepted as mature individuals. The class took on its new responsibilities with fervor proved by its placing first in S.A.T. sales.

Sports played an important part in the new life of the Sophomores. There were always football games and basketball games to attend at which the cheering sections were strongly backed by Sophs! Many of the athletes of the Class of '68 will carry on the tradition of PHS in its superiority in sports.

"68 A Go Go", the Soph Dance, held in December, was a great success, socially and financially. Later on in the year, class officers were elected. The worried excitement of those first few days at PHS has eased somewhat, but the plans for the future are as big as ever.

The doors of life cannot be opened with knowledge alone. Working well with other people and developing our own interests is as essential to living as learning facts. The understanding and growth achieved through participation in activities is an important part of the key.

Through its various projects the Student Council has aided both the school and the community. Each year the council provides for the adoption of a Korean Orphan. The money needed for adoption was raised with the help of the students as well as the faculty at the annual Student-Faculty Basketball Game, which brought enjoyment as well as the necessary funds for readoption. The Student Store and the vending machines provided the students with various school supplies. To encourage the sale of the Student Activity Ticket and to promote school spirit, the Fall Mixer was held at the beginning of the football season. A pep rally and a bonfire were held before the annual Plainfield-Westfield Thanksgiving Day football game.

Before Christmas, the Council helped to organize a program through which the homerooms raised money to purchase gifts for the children of needy families in the area. The Council also sponsored another school dance in April. The annual auction of the Lost and Found Department, provided for an increase of money in the general fund.

This year's Council has initiated some new and very worthwhile projects. In the beginning of the school year, Student Council members were orientated as to the various duties expected of the representatives. With the escalation of the war in Viet Nam, this year's Council initiated a letter writing campaign to American soldiers stationed in Viet Nam. This project was named the Kent Jordan Memorial Committee in memory of the first soldier from Plainfield High School to die in that war. In accordance with the proposed new school, the Council conducted a poll to determine the Students' opinion on where the new school should be located and to show student interest. A Code of Ethics was adopted by the Council as a guideline for student behavior in school and outside of school. Elections for next year's Council were held in March.

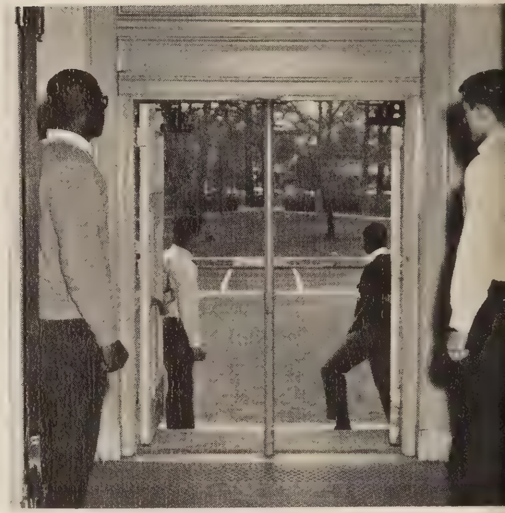
Safety Squad

If there's ever a fire, we'll keep calm.

The Safety Squad, made up of students selected because of their dependability, helped to keep silence and maintain order during the fire drills throughout the school year.



Hey, no more tripping this time!

Usher Squad

The Usher Squad, supervised by Miss Conahey, ushered at all assemblies, at special programs such as the Senior Play, and at the 1965 commencement. Each usher was assigned to a special door or floor position. The entire squad was made up of seniors selected at the end of their junior year from a "sign-up list".

What's the auditorium? We never heard of it.

Library Council

The encyclopedias, which are in great demand, are rearranged by Council members.

Plainfield High School should thank the members of the Library Council, Miss Jones, and Mr. Nichols for their fine service in the library. The club sponsored the New Teachers Tea in September and the visit of the bookmobile in March. The Council enjoyed itself at the state convention in Paterson, and at its Christmas-Chanukah, mending, and Senior parties.

Entrée

The Plainfield High School newspaper, the Entrée, is an example of an excellent school newspaper. The '65-'66 year has produced two new procedures which have greatly improved the paper. Since the beginning of this year the six-page edition has become the rule, not the exception. In the past, only the traditional Christmas issue was not the usual four-page length. The increase in size is due to additional interviews, extensive school and civic news, and increased sports coverage. Another new feature for the staff of the Entrée is the Workshop, at which reporters and editors plan future stories and discuss previous issues. Mr. Zimmerman, the advisor, selects editors for the Entrée from students who have shown, as reporters, the desire and ability for a more responsible position. Ideally, the student selected has taken a course in journalism to assure the high school of having the highest quality and most professional newspaper possible.

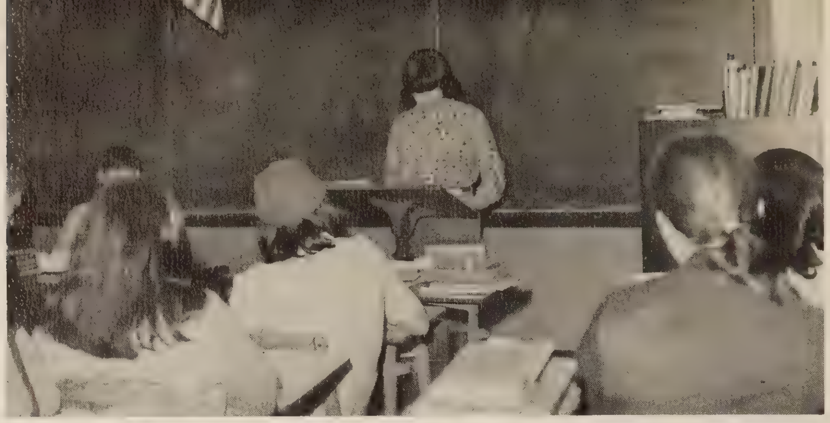
News Bureau

The News Bureau, the High School arm of the Plainfield Courier-News, has two main functions. The first is to make the people of this city aware of the more important and unusual events which take place at PHS. The second, and equally important purpose, is—to give students who aspire to careers as reporters the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of journalistic writing and to see their articles in a commercial newspaper. This year, there have been considerably more photographs accompanying the stories supplied to the Courier. The bureau's advisor is Mr. Zimmerman.

Plaintalk

A meeting of the literary staff.



Roses are red, Violets are blue . . . "That's a novel beginning!"

Plaintalk, the literary magazine of PHS, presents yearly the best written works of the students. For several months during the year, Plaintalk conducts a literary contest in prose and poetry, with the winners receiving a gift certificate to a local bookstore. The judges select the most original and imaginative stories and poems from those entered. The three staffs of Plaintalk — literary, art, and business — combine to issue the single edition in the spring. The magazine advisor is Miss Egan. Shown here are the literary staff.

Junior Classical League

JCL programs for the year included Latin games, a Saturnalia party, a view of the California National Convention, a service project to aid the needy at Lotts Creek in Appalachia, and attendance at the state convention in Trenton. The year was topped by the annual banquet in May which the club members, guests, and advisors, Miss Horn and Mrs. Campolattano, all attended in "authentic" ancient Roman costume. The members of Junior Classical League have truly proved that Latin is a living language.

Chess Club

"If I win, you do my Physics homework for the rest of the marking period."

Sponsored as a school activity and advised by Mr. Booher, the Plainfield High School Chess Club has won an outstanding state-wide reputation. The Chess Club participated in tournaments with other area schools and has won several trophies.

National Honor Society

The Henry Banta Chapter of the National Honor Society aims to foster the ideals of scholarship, character, leadership, and service among its members. The organization gave service to the school by lending assistance in various school activities, such as tutoring, manning the cloakroom, and offering subscriptions to the New York Times and the Herald Tribune. Under the supervision of Mr. Michael Nittoli, advisor, the National Honor Society sponsored the donation of selected art books to the school library, held an assembly program to induct sixteen new members, and also awarded a college scholarship.

Drum major Bernard Royster leading the band.

The band plays a very important part in Plainfield High School. Under the direction of Mr. Sawczak, the members of the band worked hard from September to June.

In the fall, the marching band performed during half time at football games. Many intricate formations were worked out with the Drum Major, Bernard Royster, on Saturday mornings preceding the games.

A high point of the year was the banquet held in December. At this event, letter sweaters were given to Seniors who have been in the band for three years.

The annual Spring Concert marked the climax of many months' practice and hard work. Band members looked forward to performing before a large audience. Added to these larger endeavors, the PHS band gave many concerts thoughout the year for Hubbard and Maxson Junior High Schools, the Old Guard, and various civic organizations.

Math Club

Under the direction of Mr. Boyer, mathematically inclined students had fun solving problems of a contest nature. Some of the problems were taken from old tests of the Mathematical Association of America and Society of Actuaries. Other activities included such programs as lectures on computers and introductions to new topics in math.

Key Club

The Key Club, sponsored by the Plainfield Kiwanis Club and advised by Mr. Blackman, served the school and community through various projects. Its accomplishments this year included selling light bulbs to raise funds for the U.S.S. Hope, distributing charity containers for muscular dystrophy, and holding a dance.

PHS Airtime

Mr. Petronella advised the students who produced a radio program heard every Saturday morning on WERA. There were approximately fifteen active students who worked on the following topics: guest teacher, clubs, news, music, important events, and school functions. Students in this group learned the technical aspects of recording and meeting a deadline, and at the same time, greatly enjoyed their work.

Radio Club

The basic purpose of the Radio Club is to further interest in shortwave radio. The meetings, consisting mainly of discussion of ideas for shortwave radio and practice of techniques, were advised by Mr. Pearson.

Our Drama Club, the largest club at PHS, is primarily concerned with promoting interest in the performing arts and exhibiting the talents of students in many productions throughout the year. In many of the weekly programs, students were given a chance to express themselves in forms of acting, singing, dancing, and pantomiming. Student productions were put on in which the entire responsibilities of the director, stage manager, and the committees under them rested upon students alone.

The arts of make-up, costumes, stage craft, and direction were taught to students in workshops. These workshops gave the students a part of the knowledge needed to put on a production.

Drama Club sponsored many major productions throughout the year. These productions included the Junior-Senior Play in January, the Inter-Class Plays in March, and the Sophomore Play in April.

This year has been one of the most successful for the club. Under the guidance of Mr. Gimbel and Mrs. Whitford, the members have seen and performed in the most interesting and informative programs. Officers assisting the advisors were Bill Neumann, President; Chuan Johnson, Vice-President; Tom Trelease, Treasurer; and Isabel Wolff, Secretary.

Guided by Mr. Gimbel and Mrs. Whitford and chaired by Linda Grimm, this year's assembly spent many arduous hours working on their productions. Financed by the profits of the S.A.T. Sale, the committee is responsible to the Student Council. The duty of planning and directing the weekly assemblies is indeed a weighty one, and it has been well executed. The highlight of this year's work was the traditional Christmas Assembly.

Thanks to the swift feet of these capable messengers who gave up their study halls, students were promptly escorted from their classes to the Attendance Office, to their class advisor, or to the Guidance Office. American Field Service

The American Field Service has a two-fold job: to provide a home for a student from a foreign land and to sponsor a Plainfield High School student abroad. The Service screens candidates for the Americans Abroad Summer Program according to scholastic achievement, personality, and character. Money for the Exchange Student Program is raised by a number of activities conducted by A.F.S. The largest project of the year is the annual Tag Day on Washington's Birthday. Downtown shoppers were approached in almost every parking lot and reminded that parking was free because of the holiday. The A.F.S.'ers then asked for contributions which would normally have been deposited in the meters. Anyone who gave a donation was presented with a tag for his service to A.F.S. Candy sales at sports events and the sale of Christmas cards designed by A.F.S. members all over the world are two other fund raising activities. The club advisors are Mr. Carrier and Mrs. Rifino.

The Small Mixed Chorus

Directed by Mr. Hooker and accompanied by Noemi Karpati and Harriet Ming, the Plainfield High School choruses have more than maintained their well-known standard of excellence. The profits of this year's scholarship concert, an annual presentation of the Small Mixed Chorus and special soloists, were presented to Noemi Karpati and Harriet Ming. The highlights of the Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert were productions of Bach's Magnificat and Frostiana, a collection of Robert Frost's poems set to music.

Future Teachers of America

Mr. Ciliberto advised the Future Teachers of America Club, which students interested in teaching as a career joined. During the spring, Seniors had the opportunity to observe classes of the grades which they would like to teach. All the girls participated in the Teachers' Aid Committee by assisting teachers in the school. The year came to an end with a tea at which awards for Teachers' Aids were given.

Future Homemakers of America

The girls of the Future Homemakers of America Club are bound to become not only wonderful housewives, but excellent businesswomen as well. In December the club held a Christmas Bazaar, in February a Valentine Bake Sale, in April an Easter items sale, and in the spring a cookbook sale. The girls attended the National FHA Convention in March. With the able assistance of Mrs. deVersterre, the Future Homemakers held their annual Mother-Daughter Dinner in May.

Future Scientists of America

Now if this worked . . .

The Future Scientists of America engaged in scientific discussions of great range, performed experiments, and planned projects such as science fair exhibits and programs with films and outside speakers. Mr. Lonsky advised the club's meetings.

Future Nurses of America

Sorry — you have the wrong number.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dolgins, the school nurse, the "Futures" attempted to learn more about the nursing profession. The girls assisted in the nurse's office during their study periods and attended meetings after school. Speakers informed the girls about different areas of the profession so that they could learn in which areas they might be interested.

Football

The Cardinal football team, led by Co-captains Jim Kates and Pete Boynton, completed another winning season, the fifth in a row. A brilliant defense held its opponents to an average of less than a touchdown per game; of the team's five wins, four were shutouts. Coach Abe Smith will be losing valuable experience when lettermen Boynton, Kates, Bill Webb, Bob Lambert, Don Marcantonio, Bruce Young, and Varson McAlister graduate. He hopes to replace his losses with the young talent of Bob "Jazzy" McDaniels, Allan Attaway, James Slaughter, and Sophomore Bob Milligan.

Basketball

Mr. Joe Coleman came to Plainfield High School to coach our 1966 basketball team, and amazing things happened. The team jumped off to four straight victories and was ranked number one in the state. School spirit soared, and the students came decked in red on "Go, Big Red Team" Days. After a slight slump, the team finished with a 14 and 4 regular season record. An upset defeat by Thomas Jefferson eliminated first-ranked Plainfield from the Union County Championships, but a hot Cardinal team went into the section finals of the state championship by snapping Perth Amboy's twenty-three game winning streak. The team will be hurt by the loss of Seniors Ray Gilmore, Ed Hatchett, Bruce Howard, Fred Austin, Walter Brown, Billy Banks, and Jim Kates, but will retain the tremendous skill of Junior Jazzy McDaniels and Sophomore George Weaver.

Swimming

The Cardinal swimming team had a truly superb season, winning their first seven meets and finishing with a 11 and 2 log. Defeat came only at the hands of a tough Seton Hall team and the state champs, Westfield. Plainfield closed the 1966 season by placing second, behind defending Westfield, in the New Jersey State Championships. Clark Lattin became State Champion by taking first place in the 100-yard freestyle. A sad note, however, was added to this fine record—Coach Victor Liske announced his retirement after coaching thirty-two consecutive winning teams. After reporting his activities for so many years, the Milestone will miss him.

Wrestling

Coach John Pepe's matmen failed to produce suitable lightweights or heavyweights to balance off a fine squad of intermediate weights; thus, the team finished with a record that belies performance. Often, the Cardinals would hold the lead till the final heavyweight match, only to be overcome at this point. But the intermediate weights were enough to bring Plainfield the District Championship, with wins by Junior Percy Powell, Seniors John Borgese, George Elmore, and Rufus Hammond.

Baseball

Coach Jack Liddy' diamondmen got off to a slow start last year, but were able to recoup most of their losses by finishing with a 10-11-1 record. The squad was hurt by the lack of varsity pitching experience, with John Del Monte the only letterman returning to the mound. Russell Impagliatelli and Jerry Boley provided the needed hitting power while Juniors Deane Higgs, Walter Brown, and Bruce Abeles helped with the pitching duties. The experience of these three hurlers plus the return of Jazzy McDaniels and Jim Kates will give the 1966 team a needed boost. Herewith are pictured some of the current year's varsity starters.

Track

A mix-up denied the 1965 outdoor track team the chance to defend its championship honors at the New Jersey State Meet last spring. However, Coach Meador's trackmen, sparked by high jumper George Platt and the 440-yard relay team of Jim Cabell, Floyd Williams, Ron Upperman, and Irv Howard, won four out of seven dual meets.

This year's indoor track team was led by Seniors Floyd Williams and Mickey Allen. Mickey brought honor to Plainfield by becoming the state 60-yard high hurdles champion.

Golf

The 1965 Plainfield High School golf team compiled a fine 7-4 record. This log is particularly pleasing when one considers that the team's top golfers—Captain Bruce Young, Howie Goldstein, Alan Slechter, and Dave Wynn — were all Juniors, and will be returning for the 1966 season. Coach John Pepe can certainly look forward to another winning season this year.

Tennis is another example of a varsity sport paved by Juniors. The 1965 team was led by Gary Moss, Rick Cohen, and Mark Mason, all of whom will be returning for the 1966 season. Seniors Scott Cooper and Roger Coven helped boost Coach William Wolgamuth's courtmen to an even 9 won, 9 lost season. Hopefully, the depth of experience will lead to an even better record this year.

Cheerleaders

The beautiful PHS cheerleaders perform an inimicable function — they provide the spirit necessary to fire a team on to victory. Many times, a basketball or a football game has been won or lost on the psychological basis of crowd support, and the cheerleaders donate the incentive to express support.

SEPTEMBER. Our return to school was marked by a tradition — the posting of one hundred and eighty plus days left for Seniors — and an innovation — the IBM machine, which gave some students eight periods of study and others a second period lunch . . . The necessary adjustment from bare feet to shoes was a difficult one, but perhaps more demanding was the necessity of choosing between going out on Friday night or watching The Man From U.N.C.L.E.

OCTOBER. Saturdays downtown were somewhat disrupted by the noises of the tearing down of the Madison-Park Area . . . Strong class lines began to disappear when we all got together at the Fall Mixer to do the Jerk and the Boogalou and gathered around each other's lockers to hear the latest scores in the World Series Games between the Dodgers and the Twins . . . The bravest girls appeared sporting the Vidal Sasson haircuts while many boys continued wearing their hair long; curious onlookers often hummed the song "Are You a Boy or Are You a Girl?"

NOVEMBER. Humming "Yesterday," we flocked out to the park during lunch to watch the wrecking crew raze the library block . . . At first we wished that the Northeast's blackout had included us, but the possibility of having been trapped in an elevator made us have second thoughts . . . Hughes-ites and Dumont-ites battled in halls and homerooms . . . Suddenly every phrase seemed to have "a go-go" tacked on the end of it . . . Somehow the taste of that Thanksgiving turkey was ruined by the outcome of the Westfield-Plainfield football game.

DECEMBER. Along with the usual festive December spirit, our patriotism swelled at the successful rendezvous of Gemini Six and Seven in space . . . Applications were rushed off by Seniors; then everybody settled down to a little holiday fun . . . We shopped by the metallic glitter of the tinsel Christmas tree, chortled at Frosty the Snowman in the holiday assembly, and applauded at the Choral Concert . . . What would vacation have been without 007 and Thunderball?

JANUARY. Day counting was resumed as soon as we returned to the once-again highly waxed halls . . . Winter failed to materialize, but so did the various facilities of the New York transit system . . . We were faced with the choice of reading In Cold Blood or watching Batman — welcome products of the new year.

Year History

FEBRUARY. The midnight oil burned in Room 9 as the Milestone deadline loomed . . . As soon as we all decided that it was quite time for a slump, our teachers began to assign the long-awaited and long-dreaded research papers . . . The adoption of a site for the new high school — much, much longer awaited — finally occurred . . . Relief from tedium was in sight in the way of the Washington's Birthday vacation, during which our conduct was to be in accordance with our new Code of Ethics . . . Despite the noble efforts of many of our students, AFS's tag day fell short of its goal . . . Eternal gratitude will be felt for those glorious snow days.

MARCH. Seniors chewed their nails awaiting the mail . . . Interclass Play Night . . . The campaigns and election of new Student Council officers and the "Swiss Night" were the only diversions in weeks full of frenzied work . . . Sports demanded our attention as we cheered the tremendous success of the basketball team and mourned Mr. Liske's retirement as swimming coach after thirty-two winning years . . . Juniors entered the college-worry cycle as they rushed to take their first Boards.

APRIL. By April the term papers were done, and the college replies were in . . . The streets began to evidence new crowding as more Juniors acquired their licenses . . . Everyone suffered from devastating cases of spring fever, and the quest for summer jobs was on . . . Easter vacations were spent either at the shore relaxing or in bed catching up on months of lost sleep.

MAY. This was the month of great changes . . . Seniors experienced both freedom and melancholy . . . Juniors became firmly entrenched under the cloud of worry, and Sophomores got that growing-up feeling . . . We groaned at the co-ops too like the fast-approaching finals . . . Cotton overcame wool; girls slipped into sandals and boys out of socks . . . The Advanced Placement Tests convinced the Seniors who felt that they were worthy that they weren't . . . Memorial Day prepared us for the solemnity to come.

JUNE. As the hot weather settled in, the annual battle concerning socks, collarless shirts, and sandals began anew . . . Underclassmen turned various shades of green as the Seniors whisked off to the Prom . . . Seniors brandished their pens boldly while Underclassmen squeezed their sentiments into corners when the Milestone finally came out . . . Exams had a horribly depressing effect on everyone's spirits . . . Graduation was both a tear-filled ending and a joy-filled beginning.
